Article 2. (Nature)

2.1 The Group is a large, open and inclusive network of universities, both in and beyond Europe, whose overarching goal is to facilitate and promote cooperation in the higher education sector, the aim of which is to promote the cultural heritage surrounding the Way to Santiago, understood as a social phenomenon that has contributed decisively to the definition of the concept and the nature of Europe. The Group also deals with the co-ordination of various activities in the field of university international relations,

2.2 The Group is registered in Spain as a non-profit International Association, and subject to the internal laws of the signing countries.

2.3 The Group is established for an indefinite period of time, and its activities will start when the present Statutes are validated and approved at the Constituent Meeting of the Group.

Article 3. (Office)

3.1 For legal effects, the Group will have its permanent address at the University of Santiago de Compostela (Galicia, Spain). Its office address is Casas Reais, 8, E-15782, Santiago de Compostela.

Article 4. (General Aims)

4.1 The general aims of the Group are to facilitate and promote cooperation in the higher education sector by:

- Strengthening the communication channels between member universities
- Organising forums, workshops and symposia related to the interests of the group
- Promoting mobility between university members, as a basis for enhancing linguistic, cultural and scientific knowledge in general.

Article 5. (Specific Aims)

5.1 Intra-group activities

These include academic and non-academic staff mobility, research cooperation and knowledge transfer, working groups, publications, and Compostela media.

5.2 Group-level activities

These include awarding the annual Compostela Prize in cooperation with the Xunta de Galicia, academic cooperation at both the European and the global level, formal affiliation with other organisations and cooperation with industry and society.

TITLE II

MEMBERS

Article 6. (Types of Member and their Rights)

6.1 Full Members

Together with the founding universities, full membership is available, on application, to universities in all parts of the world on condition that they are in agreement with the aims and objectives of the Group, subject to the approval of the majority of the member universities present at the ordinary annual meeting of the General Council.

In order to grant the full membership, the General Council will take into account the reasons justifying the application, the links of the applicant university to the Way to Santiago, and finally, a balanced representation of the countries participating in the Group.

Universities will be represented either by their Rector or President or by the person delegated by the Rector or President. The person delegated may belong to the same university or to another university within the Group. This person must be duly accredited both for voting and for making a quorum.

Full members will have the right to be members of the Executive Committee and vote on all issues during meetings of the General Council.

6.2 Associate Members

Enterprises, publishing houses and other commercial organisations interested in disseminating the objectives of the Group may apply to become Associate Members. The General Council will decide on the amount of their annual membership fee. Their representatives will not have the right to be members of the Executive Committee or vote on issues during the meetings of the General Council. They may, however, participate in the General Assembly.

6.3 Collaborative members

Institutions, organisations, associations, scientific complexes, foundations, etc. related to or interested in higher education may apply to become collaborative members.

Acceptance as a collaborative member is subject to the approval of the General Council on submission of an application containing the required documentation. Collaborative membership does not imply participation in governing bodies of the Group. Collaborative members may take part in the organisation, development and funding of specific activities and they will not have the obligation to pay membership fees.

Article 7. (Regulations for Admission)

7.1 Requests for Admission

In accordance with article 6.1 of the Statutes, a university that is not a founding or full member of the Group but wishes to become a member shall make a written request to the President of the Group. In this request, the university must make explicit its wish to become a full member of the Group. It must also agree to ratify the Statutes as well as all the existing regulations for their application.

This request, which may only be signed by the Rector or President or her/his deputy in the applicant university, must be accompanied by an official document certifying the agreement of the governing body of that university except where the statutes of that university give this power to the Rector or President. If this is the case, this must be explicitly specified in the document.

7.2 Requirements and documentation to be presented

In accordance with article 6.1 of the Statutes, it will be necessary for the applicant university to justify its request to become a full member of the Group.

Whilst links with the "Way to Santiago", in the broadest cultural sense, form the basis for an applicant university to be admitted as a new member of the Group, the absence of such an historical or cultural relation with the "Way to Santiago" will not on its own be sufficient cause for the request to be rejected.

The applicant university, if non-European, is required to demonstrate its interest in cooperating with European universities by enumerating its previous academic, cultural and scientific exchanges with Europe.

The request may be rejected if the number of member universities from the same country as that of the applicant university is disproportionately high with respect to the distribution of universities per country and with respect to the number of universities within the country. The numerical distribution arising from the foundation of the Group will not be taken into consideration when this point is discussed.

7.3 Procedure

The President of the Group will include in the agenda for the next ordinary meeting of the Executive Committee the proposal for the admission of the applicant university, providing that the request has been made in good time before the date of that meeting.

The Executive Committee will study the request and the documentation attached. It will give a favourable or unfavourable report, in both cases by a simple majority of the members present and taking into consideration the observance of current regulations. If the decision is not favourable, admission will be denied and the Executive Secretary will notify the applicant university and inform the General Council at its next meeting.

If the report is favourable, the proposal will be presented at the next ordinary meeting of the General Council, together with all the required documents.

7.4 Approval of Admission

After the report of the President of the Group at the meeting of the General Council, the application will be discussed and a vote taken. A two-thirds majority of the member universities attending the meeting will be needed for the applicant university to be admitted. The President may give the floor to the applicant university to answer any questions raised by any member university.

If the applicant university is admitted, it will then become a full member of the Compostela Group of Universities upon payment of the annual fee. The Executive Secretary will inform the new member of anything that has occurred prior to its admission of which it should be aware.

If the request is rejected, the university will not be permitted to make another application until five years after the date of the meeting of the General Council when it was rejected, and provided that the circumstances causing to the rejection have changed.

There is no right of appeal before any court of law against failure to gain admission.

Article 8. (Duties of Members)

8.1 Members are committed to:

- Observing the present Statutes and the agreements that might be reached by the General Council or the Executive Committee
- Attending the General Council
- Paying the required annual fee.

Article 9. (Regulations for Exclusion and Withdrawal)

9.1 Membership will be terminated:

- Upon voluntary renunciation, communicated in written form to the Executive Committee, and upon payment of any outstanding fee
- Upon failure to pay fees for three consecutive years
- Upon any action that causes severe prejudice to the interests of the Group

The termination of membership in accordance with points b) and c) will be agreed by the Executive Committee and ratified by the General Council, after due notification by the Executive Secretary to the concerned member. Should the exclusion of the concerned member not be ratified, the member will not be excluded.

TITLE III

Article 11. (General Council)

The Vice-President will represent the President in the President's absence; the Treasurer will monitor the accounts and give advice regarding the budget.

12.5 The Executive Committee will meet at least twice a year in order to carry out its duties. The meeting will be called by the Executive Secretary on behalf of the President and the agenda drawn up by the President in consultation with Executive Secretary. A simple majority of the members must be present for a quorum.

Article 13. (The President)

13.1 The President of the Group will be elected by the General Council from among the candidates applying for the post or nominated by any member university. The only personal requirement specified is that the candidate should be internationally recognised in teaching, research and, if possible, also in management. Those wishing to apply for this post must submit their candidacy to the Executive Secretary no later than five months prior to the election date, providing the names of the proposed members of their Executive Committee, except those of the ex-officio member, the Executive Secretary and the Nominal Member (the outgoing president), a memorandum containing their programme of activities and a curriculum vitae.

16.1 The Annual General Assembly will provide a forum for the discussion of current topics in the form of plenary sessions and working groups. It is open to members and non-members.

16.2 The Annual General Assembly will be hosted by different member universities in turn, its exact location having been fixed during the preceding General Council. The organization of the event is the responsibility of the hosting university together with the President and the Executive Secretary.

16.3 The announcement of the General Assembly, together with provisional agendas for the assembly itself as well as for the General Council, will be issued by the President and sent by the Executive Secretary to all member universities at least four months before the meeting.
